Luxury Camps

Evoking the traditional hospitality of the Rajputs with more than a touch of luxury in spectacular locations away from the press of humanity. A wonderful way to see rural Rajasthan and the wild desert landscapes.

Chhatrasagar

Possibly the best and most beautiful of the Rajasthan camps, it is situated on a medieval dam looking out over a beautiful reservoir that, in winter is the home of hundreds of waterfowl. Chhatrasagar is run by a family that once ruled the area and visitors are struck by the deep sense of pride they have in the area and the work they have done to improve life for everyone. Fresh food, superb accommodation, ambience and a matchless natural setting make this a highlight.

Manvar Camp

Situated between Jodhpur and Jaisalmer in the heart of the desert, this luxurious tented camp provides a rare opportunity to enjoy the stark beauty of the desert and its human and cultural inhabitants including some superb birding for those interested.

Rohet Wilderness Camp

Five deluxe tents with en suite facilities situated a day's ride from wonderful Rohetgarh, this luxury camp is a true getaway in the desert with few people around, the high standards that Rohet is famous for and all the activities including picnics, jeep and camel safaris, village visits, riding, etc that you can do at Rohet – and the magic of the desert at dawn and dusk.

Royal Camp, Nagaur

Situated in the architecturally and historically important Nagaur Fort midway between Bikaner and Jodhpur, this 20 tent luxury camp is based upon the design of the Maharaja of Jodhpur's old shikar or hunting tents. The fort of Nagaur is a superb example of Indo-Islamic architecture comprising a complex of palaces, mosques, temples and intricate and cleverly engineered waterworks. The camp is located within the fort and is a perfect base from which to explore the town, the fort and during the Nagaur cattle fair in February – the fair as well.
